Here Are 11 Exhibitions You Can't Miss While in San Francisco For FOG

When you have a moment to step outside the fair, make sure to put one (or all) of these shows on your to-do list.

"Beyond the Bodies' Edge" by Didier William

Where: Altman Siegel

When: Through February 22

Why It's Worth A Look: As a Haitian immigrant who grew up in Miami and now lives in Philadelphia, Didier William uses both wildlife and landscapes of his own construction to explore complex narratives of cultural belonging. Populating the pieces are the artist's signature shadowy figures, just human-like enough to reflect our own feelings and behaviors.

Know Before You Go: In one piece, William goes a different direction by inscribing text into wood. Steel yourself, as it reads, was crafted shortly after the 2024 presidential election.
